PREFACE

Ten years have elapsed since the publication of Serial Publications of the Soviet Union, 1939-1957. The need for such a tool was amply demonstrated by the reviews appearing in various journals in this country and abroad as well as by the demand. In a short time the work was sold out. This fact, as well as numerous requests expressed both privately and publicly by scholars and research workers for a similar tool brought up to date, encouraged the compiler to undertake the much more ambitious task of preparing a bibliography and union list of serials issued from the October Revolution of 1917, the inception of the Soviet regime, to date. This compendium is the result of that undertaking.

Scope.—Included are all known serial publications appearing in the Soviet Union at regular or irregular intervals since 1917, in all except oriental languages, such as Armenian, Georgian, Kirghiz, etc. These are included only if they have a Russian language title page and some contributions in Russian. The language of a serial other than Russian is specified in parentheses following the title. It should be noted that serials published outside the Soviet Union and newspapers are not included.

Sources.—The compilation of this bibliography would have been practically impossible 10 years ago. The improved bibliographic tools published in the Soviet Union during the past decade, however, have greatly facilitated the work. Information derived from the several volumes of Periodicheskaiia pechat' SSSR, 1917-1949, constitutes the basis for the bibliographic data contained in this publication. This has been supplemented by Periodychni vydannia URSS, 1918-1950, in relation to serials published in the Ukrainian S.S.R., and by Bibliografiia periodicheskikh izdanii Rossii, 1901-1916, in relation to serials of Imperial Russia whose publication was continued by the Soviet regime. Information about serials published after 1949 was taken from Letopis' periodicheskikh izdanii SSSR for the years 1961-1962, 1963, and 1964, and from the cumulative issues for 1950-54 and 1955-60. The weekly issues of Letopis' zhurnal'nykh statei and of Knizhnaia letopis' have been scanned for information on serials published after 1964. Scattered data have been obtained from miscellaneous Soviet publications, such as Gazety i zhurnaly; tematicheskii katalog, Soviet Magazines Published in Foreign Languages, Periodicals of the U.S.S.R., etc.

The American concept of serials is considerably broader than that applied in the Soviet Union and includes such materials as annual reports, transactions and papers of numbered conferences and congresses, etc. In such cases information has been obtained either from Knizhnaia letopis', from entries prepared by the catalogers of the Library of Congress or from the material itself.

Symbols of libraries throughout the United States and Canada in which a title is known to be represented have been taken from the 1967 edition of Union List of Serials, from data furnished by New Serial Titles, or from catalog cards sent to the Slavic Union Catalog by the various cooperating libraries.

It is inevitable that a large compilation of this kind will, to a certain degree, be out of date before its appearance. Every effort has been made, however, to include all data available up to the last moment before publication. Thus, although the last entry is numbered 27,699, actually there are 29,761 entries since 2,062 additional entries were added during the process of preparation for publication, which necessitated the use of letters after some numbers. Hence, the numbers followed by letters have no relationship to the original numbers and were merely an expedient way of inserting new entries in their proper alphabetical order. In addition, there are more than 28,000 cross-references for the convenience of the user. These cross-references are unnumbered.

The compilation of Half a Century of Soviet Serials, 1917-1968, has been a one-man operation, and the compiler assumes full responsibility for any errors or deficiencies. He wishes, however, to express his appreciation to the many members of the staff of the Library of Congress for their generous cooperation in giving hours of assistance on an overtime basis to prepare the material for publication.

RUDOLF SMITS.

WASHINGTON, D.C.
August 1968.

EXPLANATORY REMARKS

The system already used in Serial Publications of the Soviet Union, 1939-1957, is also applied in this compilation. Library of Congress forms of entry are observed as closely as possible. However, in cases where the compiler has had at his disposal more recent data than that available when an item was cataloged, appropriate changes have been made in the entry. Serials, without a distinctive title, published by a society, institution, or government agency, are grouped under the name of the organization responsible for their publication. Serials having a distinctive title are entered under title. Certain reservations should be maintained in regard to corporate entries for serials not located in this country. In such cases the corporate entry has been established from the title of the serial as listed in Soviet sources, whose cataloging rules differ materially from those of the United States. Cross-references, which are included for almost all titles under corporate entry as cited by Soviet sources, should enable the reader to locate the entry as set up according to American library practice.

The transliteration system used by the Library of Congress has been employed, except in the case of the Ukrainian letter "r." As in Library of Congress practice, generally this letter is transliterated "h." If, however, a word has a Greek or Latin root or simply, the same root as the English word, the initial letter is that of the original root, e.g., the words гідрологія and геологія are transliterated hidrologiia and geologiia, not hidrolohiia and heolohiia. In corporate entries, city names appear in the form used in the catalogs of the Library, but in the imprint following the title, the name of the city as authorized by the Board on Geographic Names is used, e.g., Tiflis and Tbilisi, Tashkend and Tashkent, etc.

It should be noted that all entries are set up according to the Rules for Descriptive Cataloging in the Library of Congress, not according to the new Anglo-American Cataloging Rules of 1967. The reason for this is twofold: First, most of the Soviet serials in the Library of Congress have already been cataloged according to the old rules, and second, a large part of this compilation had been completed before the introduction of the new rules. It is hoped that the numerous cross-references should enable the reader to avoid any difficulties in this regard.

For the sake of clarity, all titles of serial publications are capitalized, and corporate headings are given in lowercase type. If two or more periodicals have the same title, the name of the city in which each is issued follows the title. In such cases the name of the city is in lowercase and is underlined.

If a corporate body has issued two or more serial titles, its name is given the first time only. In the case of a second or third title, the name of the corporate body is represented by three dashes, followed by the title of the serial, e.g., Ezhegodnik, Izvestiia, and Vestnik of Akademiia nauk SSSR would be as follows:

Akademiia nauk SSSR
———EZHEGODNIK
———IZVESTIIA
———VESTNIK

The title is followed by the place of publication, the year that the serial began publication (if known), the name of the issuing body (for title entries), the frequency of publication, and miscellaneous remarks regarding changes in title, suspension of publication for certain periods, etc. The compiler has not attempted to indicate the various changes in the publishers of a serial; only the latest known issuing body is specified.

A hyphen (-) between numbers or dates indicates an inclusive range. A plus sign (+) after the date when the serial began to appear indicates that it is still being published, or that the compiler has no data available if and when it ceased publication. If publication has ceased and the date is known, this date is indicated together with the first year of publication. Changes in title are given whenever they are known, and cross references are made from former titles to the title under which the serial is listed.

Data regarding the serial entry are followed by symbols of libraries throughout the United States and Canada in which the entry is known to be represented. A list of the symbols of such libraries, indicating their full name and location, is to be found after these remarks.

Library of Congress holdings are listed in full at the end of the entry, following the symbol DLC. For the sake of simplification, the abbreviation "v." (volume) is used in place of the Russian words god, tom or vyпуск. The abbreviation "w" (wanting) indicates that the Library of Congress lacks certain issues in a run of numbers specified; e.g., "v.6-13. 1930-37 (w: 1932 no.3-4; 1936 no.8-10)" indicates that, although the Library has volumes (god) 6 through 13 for the years 1930 through 1937, it lacks numbers 3 and 4 for 1932, and numbers 8, 9 and 10 for 1936. The words "micr." (microfilm) or "photocopy" following certain issues indicate that the Library has such issues only in microfilm or photostat form. The use of brackets around the volume number or title indicates that the number or title does not appear on the publication itself but is merely assumed. The symbol 1968 "no.1+" at the end of Library of Congress holdings indicates that the Library in 1968 is regularly receiving all issues of that periodical.

Library of Congress holdings are followed by the Library's call number for the entry. The abbreviation "Unclass." (unclassified) in place of the call number means that the publication has not yet been fully cataloged by the Library, and that such unclassified material is available in the Library's Slavic Room. The expressions "Law" and "Div. for Blind" in place of the call number indicate that the material is located in the Law Library or in the Division for the Blind and Physically Handicapped.

Some monographic series are not treated as collected sets by the Library of Congress, but each issue is cataloged separately and receives a separate call number. Such series are indicated by the expression "Classified as monogr." in place of the call number. In such cases the call number of each issue is to be found in the Series Catalog of the Library's Card Division or, to a limited extent, in the Library's Main Catalog.

For the convenience of users, serials not known to be in any library in the United States or Canada are indicated by an asterisk after the number of the entry.
